mainly vast colonies of beach-dwelling scarlet macaws. On route, we will take a detour and explore the mangrove forest of Barrigones Creek; this is a prime location for spotting wildlife, including coatis, monkeys, squirrels, and sloths.

At Playa Blanca, we'll stay at Lapamar Ecolodge, a family-owned and operated property offering spacious wooden cabins, each with a private bathroom. Our host will serve our meals at the centrally located open rancho, starting with a freshly prepared lunch. This afternoon, we will walk in the nearby rainforest and village. We will also look for a sloth on trees by the beach, as this is a great place to find them. Dinner is prepared with fresh local ingredients and is served right after sunset.

DAY 6. DAY VISIT TO CORCOVADO NATIONAL PARK

On this special day, we will take a break from paddling and embark on a unique journey to Corcovado National Park, the crown jewel of the Costa Rican National Park System.

After a 20-minute drive to Puerto Jimenez, we will embark on a 25-minute boat ride that will have us exit the Golfo Dulce. Upon entering the open Pacific Ocean, you will travel another excellent hour along the shores of the Osa Peninsula until we reach the heart of Corcovado National Park. can enjoy the beach or relax in your private cabin; dinner is served after sunset.

DAY 7. SUNRISE PADDLE, CROSSING THE CALM GULF AND ALONG THE COAST TO REACH OUR NEXT LODGE

Early this morning, our host, Don Alvaro, will brew fresh coffee for us and prepare a hearty breakfast to fuel our 14 km-long (8.7 miles) stretch to Playa Balina. The glass-like conditions of Golfo Dulce will provide great opportunities to spot both pantropical and bottlenose dolphins! Upon landing on the other side of the Gulf, we'll take a well-deserved break and then continue 4 miles (6 km) to reach Playa San Josecito and Playa Nicuesa Rainforest Lodge.

After settling into our comfortable room, a delicious lunch is served. After our meal, you may relax or join us for a guided walk on the trails leading into the primary rainforest. DAY 9. PADDLE ALONG THE EASTERN SHORE OF THE GULF, REACHING GOLFITO, & FLY BACK TO SAN JOSE

After a delicious coffee and breakfast, we will say 'hasta la vista' to our hosts at Nicuesa and set off for Golfito. We will follow the gentle curve of the coastline, with lush green hills and mangrove-lined edges in view.

As we near Golfito, the scenery subtly shifts. The dense jungle remains, but small docks, fishing boats, and colorful homes begin to dot the shoreline. We will land at the public at a quiet beach near the southern end of town. Golfito feels like a sleepy, tropical port town hidden from time. After your paddle, we will change and have lunch.

After lunch, we will head for the airstrip in Golfito, where your pilot will fly back to the Central Valley on a 50-minute scenic flight along the Pacific Coast. Upon landing in San Jose, a Sea Kayaking Costa Rica representative will meet you at the airport and provide transportation to a nearby hotel.
